

Chris Bobonich, professor of philosophy and classics at Stanford University, delivered a lecture about "Plato on Action and Knowledge" on May 26, 2010 at the Mershon Center for International Security Studies.

After delivering his lecture about "Plato on Action and Knowledge," Chris Bobonich (left), professor of philosophy and classics at Stanford University, fielded a question from Allan Silverman (right), professor of philosophy at Ohio State. Bobonich spoke at the Mershon Center for International Security Studies on May 26, 2010. His lecture was part of the Center's Citizenship Lecture Series, which is organized by Silverman.

After delivering his lecture about "Plato on Action and Knowledge," Chris Bobonich (left), professor of philosophy and classics at Stanford University, fielded questions from a capacity audience at the Mershon Center for International Security Studies. Bobonich spoke at the Mershon Center on May 26, 2010 as part of the Center's Citizenship Lecture Series, which is organized by Allan Silverman, professor of philosophy.

After delivering his lecture titled "Plato on Action and Knowledge," Chris Bobonich (center), professor of philosophy and classics at Stanford University, continued discussion with graduate students. Bobonich spoke at the Mershon Center for International Security Studies on May 26, 2010. His lecture was part of the Center's Citizenship Lecture Series, which is organized by Allan Silverman, professor of philosophy